

Transformational Learning Fellows

College of Education and Human Development

Transformational Learning Fellows are those students recognized for their commitment to engaging in high impact practices. Students who earn the Fellow distinction will have passed various academic, professional, and personal milestones while enrolled at Texas A&M University, and in doing so, prepare to be lifelong learners.

A listing of the activities and associated credits is offered below.

Experience	Credits
Academic Milestones
Participate in undergraduate research (291 or 491)	10 points per semester
Present research at Student Research Week	10 points per conference
Present research at a regional or national conference	20 points per conference
Publish in Explorations (TAMU journal for UG research)	30 points per publication
Author on a refereed publication	30 points per publication
Attend a professional conference	10 points per conference
Participate in an international field trip	15 points per semester
Participate in a semester-long study abroad	30 points per semester
Participate in a service learning class	20 points per semester
Graduate in under 123 hours	30 points
Participate in a learning community class	20 points per semester
Participate in a high impact directed studies	10 points per semester
Complete a capstone project	20 points
Complete a field experience (e.g., student teaching, internship)	20 points per experience
Professional Milestones
Meet with Byrne Center Director	5 points
Enroll at Career Center	5 points
Attend a career fair	10 points
Join a professional society in your major	10 points
Active member of a student organization in major	5 points
Hold office of a student organization in major	15 points
Participate as a peer mentor with Byrne Center	10 points
Participate in 4 professional workshops	15 points
Personal Milestones
Register for and attend Strengths Quest workshop	5 points
Register for and attend Money-Wise workshops	5 points
Participate on Rec Sports or Athletics team	5 points
Complete a semester-long fitness class at the Rec Center	5 points
Register and attend Academic Success Center workshops	5 points per workshop
Enroll with University Writing Center	10 points
Volunteer and complete a service project	5 points per event

- Students should accrue a minimum of 90 Academic Milestone points, 25 Professional Milestone points, and 10 Personal Milestone Points.

Students who are interested in committing to becoming Transformational Learning Fellows should complete the form below. The college will then enroll the students in a community on e-campus, where the students can then record and store their transformational learning experiences.

Student Information

Name: _____

UIN: _____

TAMU email address: _____

Classification: _____

Major or intended major: _____

Expected graduation semester: _____

Please use the space below to submit any comments or questions you may have.

Prior to graduation, students should submit their materials to the Office of Academic Affairs, where their materials will be verified.

Students will then receive a Transformational Learning Fellows certificate, as well as a cord to wear at graduation.